

MARTIN GILBERT

THE SECOND WORLD
WAR

REVISED EDITION

In the transmission of the horror of the war, Martin Gilbert has achieved something no historian could. There is indeed a certain force about chronology when it is used as a tool by an historian of the stature of Martin
Gilbert. —John Keegan,
The Sunday Telegraph

59

COMPLETE HISTORY

THE SECRET WORLD WAR

A COMPLETE HISTORY
OF THE
WAR
AS IT REALLY WAS
AND AS IT REALLY IS BEING FIGHTED
AND AS IT REALLY WILL BE FOUGHT

MARTIN
GARDNER
AUTHOR OF
"THE SECRET
WORLD OF SCIENCE"

BOOKS BY MARTIN GILBERT

THE CHURCHILL BIOGRAPHY

- Volume III The Challenge of War, 1914-1916
- Volume III (documents; in two parts)
- Volume IV The Stricken World, 1917-1922
- Volume IV (documents; in three parts)
- Volume V The Prophet of Truth, 1922-1939
- Volume V The Exchequer Years 1923-1929 (documents)
- Volume V The Wilderness Years 1929-1935 (documents)
- Volume V The Coming of War 1936-1939 (documents)
- Volume VI Finest Hour, 1939-1945
- Volume VII Road to Victory, 1942-1945
- Volume VIII 'Never Despair', 1945-1965

OTHER BOOKS

- The Appeasers* (with Richard Gott)
- The European Powers, 1900-1945*
- The Ruins of Appeasement*
- Britain and Germany Between the Wars* (documents)
- Plough My Own Furrows: the Life of Lord Allen of Hurtwood* (documents)
- Servant of India: Diaries of the Viceroy's Private Secretary* (documents)
- Sir Horace Rumbold: Portrait of a Diplomat*
- Churchill: a Photographic Portrait*
- Churchill's Political Philosophy*
- Auschwitz and the Allies*
- Exile and Return: the Struggle for Jewish Statehood*
- The Jews of Hope: the Flight of Soviet Jewry Today*
- Shebaransky: Hero of our Time*
- Jerusalem: Rebirth of a City, 1838-1948*
- Final Journey: the fate of the Jews in Nazi Europe*
- The Holocaust: the Jewish Tragedy*
- Churchill: A Life*

ATLAS

- Recent History Atlas, 1860-1960*
- British History Atlas*
- American History Atlas*
- Jewish History Atlas*
- First World War Atlas*
- Russian Imperial History Atlas*
- Soviet History Atlas*
- The Arab-Israeli Conflict: its History in Maps*
- The Jews of Russia: Their History in Maps and Photographs*
- Jerusalem Illustrated History Atlas*
- Children's Illustrated Bible Atlas*
- The Jews of Arab Lands: Their History in Maps and Photographs*
- Atlas of the Holocaust*

THE SECOND WORLD WAR

A Complete History

Revised Edition

MARTIN GILBERT

HENRY HOLT AND COMPANY
NEW YORK

Henry Holt and Company, Inc.
Publishers since 1865
115 West 18th Street
New York, New York 10011

Henry Holt® is a registered trademark of Henry Holt and Company, Inc.

Copyright © 1989 by Martin Gilbert
All rights reserved.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data
Gilbert, Martin.

The second World War : a complete history /
Martin Gilbert. Rev. ed.

p. cm.

Includes index.

1. World War, 1939-1945. I. Title.

D743.G5336 1991

91-38253

940.54—dc20

CIP

ISBN 0-8050-0534-X

ISBN 0-8050-1786-7 (An Owl Book: pbk.)

Henry Holt books are available for special promotions and premiums. For details contact: Director, Special Markets.

Originally published in Great Britain
under the title Second World War.

First American Edition—1989

First Owl Book Revised Edition—1991

Printed in the United States of America

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3

(pbk.)

Contents

List of Maps	ix
List of Photographs	xii
Acknowledgements	xvi
1 The German invasion of Poland, September 1939	1
2 Poland defeated, October 1939	15
3 Finland defiant, November 1939	31
4 The Scandinavian cockpit, winter 1939-1940	44
5 The German attack in the West, May 1940	61
6 Dunkirk, May 1940	75
7 The battle for France, June 1940	85
8 France's agony, Britain's resolve, June-July 1940	103
9 The battle for Britain, August-September 1940	117
10 'The war is won!' (Hitler), October 1940	126
11 The 'new order of tyranny' (Roosevelt), winter 1940-1941	138
12 The widening war, January-March 1941	153
13 The German conquest of Yugoslavia and Greece, April 1941	165
14 The fall of Crete; war in Africa, April-May 1941	177
15 The German invasion of Russia, June 1941	198
16 Terror in the East, July-August 1941	212
17 Towards Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev, September 1941	222
18 Russia at bay, September-October 1941	237
19 'Deciding the fate of Europe' (Hitler), November 1941	249
20 The limits of German conquest, December 1941	259
21 Japan strikes, December 1941	272

22	'We are no longer alone' (Churchill), New Year 1942	286
23	Global war, February–April 1942	301
24	The spread of resistance and of terror, summer 1942	321
25	Axis triumphs, July 1942	336
26	Guadalcanal, Dieppe, El Alamein, August–September 1942	350
27	Stalingrad and 'Torch', September–October 1942	365
28	The turn of the tide for the Allies, winter 1942	381
29	Casablanca: blueprint for victory, January 1943	390
30	The German armies in danger, February 1943	402
31	'Drive the enemy into the sea' (Montgomery), spring 1943	417
32	'The first crack in the Axis' (Roosevelt), summer 1943	434
33	Germany and Japan in retreat, autumn 1943	458
34	'Bleeding to death in the East' (Goebbels), winter 1943	471
35	Anzio, Cassino, Kwajalein, January–February 1944	485
36	Bombing, deportation, and mass murder, February–March 1944	503
37	Resistance, sabotage and deception, spring 1944	521
38	D-Day, June 1944	534
39	Germany encircled, July 1944	548
40	The battles for Poland and France, summer 1944	561
41	The bitter-sweet path of liberation, autumn 1944	572
42	Into Germany, towards the Philippines, September 1944	589
43	Fighting for every mile, October–November 1944	603
44	Flying bombs, suicide pilots, death marches, January 1945	626
45	Berlin, Manila, Dresden, Tokyo, February–March 1945	657
46	The Axis in disarray; the Allies in conflict, March–April 1945	654
47	The deaths of Roosevelt, Mussolini and Hitler, April 1945	662
48	The end of the war in Europe, May 1945	682
49	Germany in defeat, Japan unbowed, May–July 1945	692
50	Alamogordo, Potsdam and Hiroshima, July–August 1945	704
51	The defeat of Japan, August 1945	715
52	Retribution and Remembrance, 1945–1952	720
53	'Unfinished business', 1953–1989	737
	Bibliography	749
	Regional Maps	765
	Index	787

Maps

Maps in the text

1 The German invasion of Poland, September 1939	3
2 Poland partitioned, October 1939	17
3 Greater Germany, November 1939	21
4 The Russo-Finnish war, November 1939–March 1940	33
5 Scandinavia, spring 1940	41
6 The German invasion of western Europe, May 1940	63
7 Dunkirk, May–June 1940	71
8 The battle for France, June 1940	87
9 The fall of France, June 1940	95
10 Europe from Norway to Egypt, summer 1940	113
11 The battle of Britain and the 'Blitz', August–September 1940	119
12 The Italian invasion of Greece, October 1940	135
13 Yugoslavia and Greece, April 1941	171
14 The evacuation of Attica, April 1941	176
15 Crete, May 1941	183
16 Germany and the Middle East, June 1941	189
17 Germany and Russia on the eve of war	193
18 The Volga–Archangel line and the Berlin–Tiflis axis	195
19 The widening war, June 1941	200
20 The German invasion of Russia, 22 June 1941	202
21 The Eastern Front, August 1941	215
22 The siege of Leningrad, October 1941–January 1944	229
23 The Eastern Front, September and October 1941	231
24 The battle for Moscow, winter 1941	252
25 Pearl Harbour, December 1941	264
26 The Eastern Front, December 1941	269
27 The Japanese Empire and the coming of war, December 1941	273
28 The first death camp, murder sites, and the Eastern Front, December 1941	274

29	The South China Sea, December 1941	277
30	The Eastern Front, March 1942	289
31	The Bataan Peninsula, January–May 1942	294
32	Soviet partisans, 1942	309
33	Death camps, deportations, air raids and reprisals, 1942	311
34	The Eastern Front, May 1942	313
35	The German offensive, July–November 1942	342
36	Terror in the East, July 1942	344
37	Stalingrad besieged, September–November 1942	356
38	Behind the lines in the East, winter 1942–1943	362
39	The Soviet reconquest of the Caucasus and the Don, winter 1942–1943	382
40	The battle for Tunisia, January–May 1943	403
41	The German retreats, February–August 1943	411
42	From Tunis to Sicily, May–July 1943	437
43	The Battle for the Kursk Salient, July 1943	442
44	The Eastern Front and the Red Army advance, July–August 1943	454
45	Some execution sites of Soviet prisoners-of-war, Poles and Jews, 1943	483
46	The Eastern Front, winter 1943–1944	487
47	The Italian Front, 1943–1944	491
48	The Normandy and South of France deception plans	493
49	'Big Week' air raids, 20–26 February 1944	501
50	Burma, 1944	507
51	France, 1 February–5 June 1944	518
52	Slave-labour camps in Eastern Silesia, 1944	524
53	The Normandy landings, 6 June 1944	535
54	The Red Army offensive, June–August 1944	545
55	The Warsaw uprising, July–October 1944	563
56	The battle in France, June–September 1944	569
57	Europe at war, September 1944	575
58	The oil campaign, August 1944, oil targets	577
59	The Eastern Front, September–December 1944	579
60	The Slovak uprising, August–October 1944	583
61	The battle for north west Europe, September 1944	586
62	The Eastern Pacific, October 1944–March 1945	605
63	The Western and Italian Fronts, October 1944	607
64	The Eastern Front, October 1944	609
65	The German counter-offensive in the Ardennes, December 1944	619
66	Crossing the Rhine, March 1945	647
67	The landings on Okinawa, 1 to 23 April 1945	656
68	From the Rhine to the Elbe, April 1945	665
69	The battle for Berlin, March–April 1945	671
70	Berlin besieged, April 1945	675
71	Europe from war to peace, May 1945	685
72	The fall of Okinawa, 30 April–21 June 1945	698

73 Post-war Europe	706
74 The seven bombing missions of 5-6 August 1945	715

REGIONAL MAPS

After page 765

1 Germany
2 The Ruhr
3 Germany from the Elbe to the Oder
4 Eastern Germany, East Prussia, Poland and the Baltic States
5 Western Russia
6 France
7 Holland
8 Great Britain
9 The Thames Valley
10 London
11 Northern Italy
12 Austria, Slovakia, Hungary and Yugoslavia
13 The Mediterranean
14 The Egyptian-Libyan border
15 The Dodecanese Islands
16 Southern Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Greece and Crete
17 Scandinavia and the Baltic
18 The Arctic Convoys
19 The Atlantic Ocean
20 East Africa and the Middle East
21 The Indian Ocean
22 Burma, Indo-China and China
23 The Philippines and the Dutch East Indies
24 Japan
25 The United States
26 The Eastern Seaboard of the United States
27 The Pacific Ocean
28 New Guinea and the Solomon Islands

Photographs

SECTION ONE, between pages 206 and 207.

- 1 The German invasion of Poland, 1 September 1939
- 2 German troops on their way by train to the Polish front
- 3 German soldiers enter the Polish town of Gdynia
- 4 Polish prisoners-of-war, captured by the Germans in September 1939
- 5 Hitler reviewing his troops in Warsaw, 5 October 1939
- 6 The German occupation forces in Poland
- 7 The Russo-Finnish war; a church ablaze in Helsinki
- 8 The Russo-Finnish war; Finnish soldiers leave their trench
- 9 The German pocket-battleship Graf Spee destroyed
- 10 German troops celebrate Christmas 1939
- 11 The Siegfried Line, 14 January 1940
- 12 British leaflets, stacked for dropping over Germany
- 13 German troops enter Norway, 9 April 1940
- 14 British spitfire pilots, 20 April 1940
- 15 Allied ships ablaze in Narvik harbour
- 16 German parachute troops land in a Dutch field, May 1940
- 17 German parachute troops in Holland prepare to advance
- 18 Rotterdam in flames, 14 May 1940
- 19 German troops hide through a Belgian town
- 20 German troops in Holland
- 21 London: British troops await a German parachute landing
- 22 Dunkirk: British troops await evacuation
- 23 French soldiers and sailors being rescued from the sea
- 24 British and French soldiers going into captivity
- 25 The Franco-German armistice negotiations, 20 June 1940
- 26 Hitler in Paris with German soldiers, 23 June 1940
- 27 Hitler at the Eiffel Tower
- 28 German soldiers practise for the invasion of Britain
- 29 German fighter pilots waiting to be sent against Britain
- 30 A German fighter shot down over southern England, August 1940

- 31 The Battle of Britain; vapour trails above London
- 32 A London Underground station receives a direct hit
- 33 Hitler during the Yugoslav campaign
- 34 Crete; British warships attacked by German aircraft
- 35 British prisoners-of-war in Crete, May 1941
- 36 A British war grave in Crete
- 37 Two German war graves in Crete
- 38 The German battleship Bismarck in action, 27 May 1941
- 39 A German Enigma machine
- 40 The German invasion of Russia, 22 June 1941
- 41 German troops and Russian prisoners-of-war
- 42 The Russian city of Smolensk on the eve of its capture
- 43 Battle-weary German troops on the Eastern Front
- 44 A British fighter pilot and his 'V for Victory' crest
- 45 A Yugoslav victim of Nazi terror
- 46 The Western Desert; the grave of an Australian soldier
- 47 The Western Desert; British troops surrender
- 48 German troops in western Russia
- 49 Russian dead in Leningrad
- 50 Soviet troops prepare for the defence of Moscow
- 51 Russian women volunteers prepare for the defence of Moscow
- 52 Pearl Harbour, 7 December 1941
- 53 American battleships ablaze at Pearl Harbour, 7 December 1941
- 54 Pearl Harbour; an American bomber destroyed on the ground
- 55 Burying the dead at Pearl Harbour
- 56 Pearl Harbour; a memorial stone to an unknown American soldier
- 57 German soldiers pull back from Moscow, 7 December 1941
- 58 The Japanese air attack on Hong Kong, 11 December 1941
- 59 Hong Kong surrenders, 25 December 1941
- 60 Japanese troops celebrate victory in Malaya, 31 January 1942
- 61 Japanese troops invade Burma, 31 January 1942

SECTION TWO, between pages 526 and 527.

- 62 A British naval gun at Singapore fires a practice volley
- 63 British soldiers in Singapore marching into captivity
- 64 Hitler meets wounded soldiers in Berlin
- 65 American soldiers taken captive in Bataan, April 1942
- 66 Prague; the car in which SS General Heydrich was ambushed
- 67 The execution of four Jews in German-occupied Poland
- 68 Japanese soldiers occupy the American Aleutian island of Attu
- 69 British soldiers surrender at Tobruk, June 1942
- 70 Jewish women being deported to 'the East'
- 71 Soviet soldiers in German captivity, July 1942
- 72 German troops and Canadian dead at Dieppe, August 1942
- 73 British troops advance in the Western Desert, November 1942

- 74 The Eastern Front, the Russian mud and a German motorcyclist
- 75 German wounded being evacuated from Stalingrad
- 76 The swastika flies over Stalingrad University
- 77 The swastika decorates two German war graves
- 78 Soviet units link up on the Leningrad front, January 1943
- 79 The German V1 rocket
- 80 A German secret teleprinter
- 81 Italian troops retreating on the Eastern Front
- 82 Italian war dead on the Eastern Front
- 83 Admiral Yamamoto and his staff
- 84 The wreckage of Admiral Yamamoto's bomber, April 1943
- 85 American bombers drop incendiary bombs on Kiel
- 86 The crew of a British bomber about to set off
- 87 The British 'bouncing' bomb on a test drop
- 88 The effect of the 'bouncing' bomb, May 1943
- 89 American warships in the Aleutian Islands, August 1943
- 90 American Marines on Tarawa, November 1943
- 91 Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at the Teheran Conference
- 92 British soldiers, captured by the Germans on the Island of Kos
- 93 American troops go ashore at Anzio, January 1944
- 94 American dead at Anzio
- 95 Hitler greets the German woman aviator, Hanna Reitsch
- 96 Soviet forces renew their offensive, March 1944
- 97 Churchill and Eisenhower visit American troops in England
- 98 Rommel inspecting the low-tide defences along the Channel Coast
- 99 Soviet forces land on the Kerch Peninsula, April 1944
- 100 The Italian village of Cassino, May 1944
- 101 German war graves at Cassino
- 102 The 'Mulberry Harbour' used for the Normandy Landings, June 1944
- 103 A German flying bomb falls on central London
- 104 The American heavy cruiser Indianapolis
- 105 Hitler immediately after the attempt on his life, 20 July 1944
- 106 Carl Goedeler on trial in Berlin
- 107 Judge Freisler addressing one of the accused
- 108 Ulrich von Hassell on trial
- 109 Julius Leber on trial
- 110 Hitler visits one of those injured in the bomb blast
- 111 An American Private guards six hundred German soldiers
- 112 A British air reconnaissance photograph, taken above Auschwitz
- 113 Hungarian Jews arriving at Auschwitz
- 114 German soldiers in the Ardennes offensive, December 1944
- 115 Three German infiltrators, captured and executed in the Ardennes
- 116 Bodies of American soldiers, massacred near Malmédy
- 117 An American pontoon bridge across the Rhine, March 1945
- 118 Japanese-Americans, serving in the American army in Italy
- 119 An American aircraft carrier damaged by another American warship

- 120 Hitler says farewell to young soldiers, 20 April 1945
- 121 American soldiers in Munich, 29 April 1945
- 122 The Hammer and Sickle raised on the Reichstag, 30 April 1945
- 123 The three German signatories of unconditional surrender, 7 May 1945
- 124 Hiroshima
- 125 A former British prisoner-of-war after the Japanese surrender
- 126 The Japanese surrender on board the Missouri, 2 September 1945
- 127 General MacArthur adds his signature to the instrument of surrender
- 128 Marshal Goering on trial at Nuremberg, 1946
- 129 General Tojo on trial at Tokyo, 1947
- 130 The skeleton of a crewman of an American bomber, discovered in 1958

Acknowledgements

In the preparation of this book, I have been helped by many people, who have provided me with historical material and answered my various queries, or who have guided me towards documentary and printed sources. For help on several points of historical detail, I am grateful to Oliver Everett, The Librarian, Royal Archives, and Pamela Clark, Deputy Registrar. Over many years, I have been particularly helped by Dr Christopher Dowling, Keeper of the Department of Museum Services, Imperial War Museum, London, and, on all matters concerning Signals Intelligence, as well as many aspects of military, naval and air history, by Edward Thomas, whose willingness to guide my steps has been much appreciated.

On a wide range of historical matters I have also received considerable help from Winston G. Ramsey, founder and editor of After the Battle magazine, and a pioneer in revisiting and exploring historical episodes both large and small in all the war zones.

For the answers to a wide range of questions concerning the United States, I am indebted to Larry Aron, President, the Claremont Institute for the Study of Statesmanship and Political Philosophy, and to his colleagues Steven Lenzer and Daniel C. Palm.

In response to my enquiries for material and information, I must thank Rupert Allason (Nigel West); Ralph Amelan, Jerusalem Post Archives, Jerusalem; F. Bartlett Watt; Mikhail Beizer; Jeremy Carver; Alan Clark; Reuven Dafni, Vice-Chairman, Yad Vashem, Jerusalem; Kingston Derry; Barbara Distel, KZ-Gedenkstätte Dachau, Museum, Archive, Library; John Doble; Professor John Erickson, Defence Studies, University of Edinburgh; Professor M. R. D. Foot; Birthe N. Fraser, Royal Danish Embassy, London; Nechama Gial, Yad Vashem, Jerusalem; Professor Yuas Gelber, University of Haifa; Katherine Hafner; Peter Halban; Lizzie Hanghyrd, Royal Danish Embassy, London; Dr Cameron Hazlehurst; Dr Hugo Hungerbühler, City Archivist, Zürich; Barbara Jones, Lloyd's Register of Shipping; Alexander Kitroeff, Centre for Byzantine and Modern Greek Studies, Queen College, City University of New York; Serge Klarsfeld; George Klein, Holocaust Memorial Commission, New York; Igor Kotler; Dr Shmuel Krakowski, Yad Vashem, Jerusalem; Anita Lasker-Wallfisch; Wim van Leer; Norman Longmare; Lorraine Macknight, Curator, Australian War Memorial, Canberra; H. V. S. Manral, The High Commission of India, London; Mrs M. Milosavljević, Embassy of the Socialist Federal Republic of Yugoslavia, London; Kenneth Murphy, Archivist, the Guardian; G. W. Peters, Ambassade de France, London; Heidi Potter, Japan Information Centre, Embassy of Japan, London; David Pryce-Jones; Giorgio Guglielmino, Consolato Generale d'Italia, London; F. de Rochemont, Netherlands State Institute for War Documentation, Amsterdam; Mikhail Saianov; Eileen Schlesinger; Monsignor G. Sesto, Secretariat of State, Vatican; Michael Sherbourne; Professor Shoji, War Archives Office, Tokyo; Major H. Stavern, Royal Norwegian Embassy, London; Mrs C. Laker, Royal Netherlands Embassy, London; Jean Ring; Lieutenant Colonel George Sunderland, Royal Army Medical College, London; W. Töbjes, Embassy of the Federal Republic of Germany; A. Vanhaecke, Sous Archiviste, Service des Archives, Le Havre; Kurt Vumegat.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In the final stages of my work, further historical material was provided by P. Berninger, Der Magistrat der Stadt Darmstadt, Stadtarchiv; Jack Brader; Sir William Deakin; Georgette Elgey, Le Conseiller Technique, Présidence de la République, Paris; Roy Barran; John E. Franklin, Executive Director, The Fulbright Commission, Herman Friedhoff; Torje H. Holm, Norwegian Defence Museum, Oslo; Igor Kotler; Trevor Martin; Frances Penfold, Commonwealth War Graves Commission; Michael D. Piccola; Gordon Ramsey, Assistant Editor, After The Battle; Dr C. M. Schulten, Head of the Army Historical Section, Royal Netherlands Army Staff, The Hague; Thomas L. Sherlock, Historian, Department of the Army; Arlington National Cemetery, Arlington, Virginia; Dr Shmuel Specter; Professor I. Janos Veremis, Department of Political Science and Public Administration, University of Athens; and Paul Woodman, Royal Geographical Society.

While selecting the illustrations, I was helped in my quest by Graham Mason, of the Robert Hunt Picture Library, and Milica Timoric, of the Hulton-Deutsch Collection. I am also grateful to the following photographic archives and photographic copyright holders, for access to, and permission to use, the photographs in their collections:

After The Battle Magazine: photographs number 15, 26, 27, 33, 34, 36, 37, 39, 56, 58, 62, 66, 80, 83, 84, 87, 88, 95, 111, 117, 118, 121, 123, 130;

Associated Press Ltd: photographs number 66, 92;

Bruce Adams: photograph number 84;

Bundesarchiv: photographs number 98, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110;

Defence Department Photo (Marine Corps): photograph number 68;

Foto-Sencio Euler Werk: photograph number 88;

Hulton-Deutsch Collection: photographs number 1, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 21, 22, 31, 42, 44, 50, 86, 102;

Illustrated Copyright: photograph number 125;

Imperial War Museum: photographs number 25, 29, 45, 46, 48, 49, 59, 72, 73, 90, 91, 97, 98, 100, 101, 114, 115, 124, 127;

International Magazine Service, Stockholm: photograph number 38;

Keystone Photo: photograph number 121;

National Archives, Washington DC: photographs number 52, 53, 54, 55, 89, 103, 126, 128;

Novosti Press Agency, Moscow: photographs number 51, 78;

Pan-Asia Photo News: photograph number 129;

Portsmouth & Sunderland Newspapers Ltd: photograph number 30;

Robert Hunt Library: photographs number 4, 5, 7, 8, 16, 17, 18, 20, 23, 24, 28, 29, 32, 35, 38, 40, 41, 43, 45, 47, 48, 49, 51, 57, 60, 61, 63, 64, 65, 68, 69, 71, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 81, 82, 84, 85, 89, 92, 95, 96, 98, 99, 101, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, 108, 109, 110, 113, 115, 116, 118, 119, 120, 122, 129;

Sado, Brussels: photographs number 71, 118;

Science Museum, London: photographs number 39, 80;

Signal Corps Photo: photographs number 113 (Lieutenant Monroe), 128 (Technical Sergeant Sievers);

U.S. Air Force Photo: number 85;

U.S. Army Photograph: photographs number 94, 116, 117;

Yad Vashem, Jerusalem: photographs number 2, 67, 70, 112, 113;

Zenarzo: photograph number 82.

For help in sorting the many thousands of folio sheets of material, I am grateful to Jessica Wyman. Tim Aspden has transformed my map drafts into maps of the highest quality. The typing of the manuscript of this book, as of my previous manuscripts for more than a decade, was done by Sue Rampton. All correspondence and extra typing was undertaken by Kay Thomson. The copyediting was under the expert eye of Peter James. While preparing the index, I was helped by Catrui Wurtman, Oren Harman, Ephraim Maisel and my son David.

In preparation for the second edition, I am particularly grateful to Adam O'Riordan for his scrutiny of the text, as well as to all those who also sent me notes of errors. For this help, I should like to thank George Clark, D. S. Goodbrand, George Howard, Hugh Humphreys, A. C. H. Irvine, David Luttman, Zvi Loker, D. M. Neale, Colonel Geoffrey Powell, Arthur Fareand Radley, Captain A. B. Sainsbury, Alan L. Shaw, Otto Sigg, P. F. Smith, Sir Alexander Waddell, Andrew Wignmore and A. J. Williamson. For subsequent notes of errors, I am grateful to Ray Bailey, Elihu Bergman, Warren Duke, Kevin McCabe, Richard Sanoek, L. A. Smita, Torrnod Torp, Christopher Niebuhr, Richard Cardosi and Admiral of the Fleet Lord Lewin.

At every stage since the book's inception I have been encouraged by my publisher, David Roberts, and by Ben Helgott, a survivor of the Holocaust, who gave me the benefit of his considerable knowledge and wisdom.

As with each of my previous books, it is to my wife Susie that I owe both the meticulous scrutiny of the text, and the determination to see fulfilled my aim of a single volume history of the Second World War which would cover the many different regions of conflict, and the suffering, heroism and achievement of soldiers and civilians alike.

Merton College,
Oxford
22 February 1991

The German invasion of Poland

SEPTEMBER 1939

The Second World War was among the most destructive conflicts in human history; more than forty-six million soldiers and civilians perished, many in circumstances of prolonged and horrifying cruelty. During the 2,174 days of war between the German attack on Poland in September 1939 and the surrender of Japan in August 1945, by far the largest number of those killed, whether in battle or behind the lines, were unknown by name or face except to those few who knew or loved them; yet in many cases, perhaps also numbering in the millions, even those who might in later years have remembered a victim were themselves wiped out. Not only forty-six million lives, but the vibrant life and livelihood which they had inherited, and might have left to their descendants, were blotted out: a heritage of work and joy, of struggle and creativity, of learning, hopes and happiness, which no one would ever inherit or pass on.

Inevitably, because they were the war's principal sufferers, it is the millions of victims who fill so many of these pages. Many of them can be, and are, named; it is they, and the unnamed men, women and children whose tragedy is the bitter legacy of the war. There is courage, too, in these pages; the courage of soldiers, sailors and airmen, the courage of partisans and resistance fighters, and the courage of those who, starving, naked and without strength or weapons, were sent to their deaths.

Who was the first victim of a war that was to claim more than forty-six million victims? He was an unknown prisoner in one of Adolf Hitler's concentration camps, most probably a common criminal. In an attempt to make Germany seem the innocent victim of Polish aggression, he had been dressed in a Polish uniform, taken to the German frontier town of Gleiwitz, and shot on the evening of 31 August 1939 by the Gestapo in a bizarre faked 'Polish attack' on the local radio station. On the following morning, as German troops began their advance into Poland, Hitler gave, as one of his reasons for the invasion, 'the attack by regular Polish troops on the Gleiwitz transmitter'.

In honour of the SS Chief who had helped to devise the Gleiwitz deception, it had been given the code name Operation Himmler. On that same evening of August 31, the Soviet Union, Germany's ally of less than a week, had finally been victorious in its battle with the Japanese on the Soviet-Mongolian borderlands, as Soviet forces, commanded by General Zhukov, destroyed the last resistance of the Sixth Japanese Army at Khalkhin Gol. As one war ended, another began, known to history as the Second World War.

The German advance into Poland on 1 September 1939 was not a repeat of the tactics of the First World War of 1914-18. Then, infantrymen, advancing towards each other until caught in a line of trenches, had mounted a series of attacks against a well dug-in enemy. Hitler's method was that of 'Blitzkrieg' - lightning war. First, and without warning, air attacks destroyed much of the defender's air force while it was still on the ground. Second, bombers struck at the defender's road and rail communications, assembly points and munitions dumps, and at civilian centres, causing confusion and panic. Third, dive-bombers sought out columns of marching men and bombed them without respite, while at the same time aircraft machine-gunned civilian refugees as they sought to flee from the approaching soldiers, causing chaos on the roads, and further impeding the forward movement of the defending forces.

Even as the Blitzkrieg came out of the sky, it also came on land; first in wave after wave of motorized infantry, light tanks and motor-drawn artillery, pushing as far ahead as possible. Then heavy tanks were to drive deep into the countryside, bypassing cities and fortified points. Then, after so much damage had been done and so much territory traversed, the infantry, the foot soldiers of every war, but strongly supported by artillery, were to occupy the area already penetrated, to deal with whatever resistance remained, and to link up with the mechanized units of the initial strike.

Twenty-four hours after the German attack on Poland, an official Polish Government communiqué reported that 130 Poles, of whom twelve were soldiers, had been killed in air raids on Warsaw, Gdynia, and several other towns. 'Two German bombers were shot down, and the four occupants arrested after a miraculous escape,' the communiqué noted, 'when forty-one German aircraft in formation appeared over eastern Warsaw on Friday afternoon. People watched a thrilling aerial battle over the heart of the city. Several houses caught fire, and the hospital for Jewish defective children was bombed and wrecked.'

On the morning of September 2, German aircraft bombed the railway station at the town of Kolo. At the station stood a train of civilian refugees being evacuated from the border towns of Jarocin and Krotoszyn; 111 of them were killed.

Hitler's aim in invading Poland was not only to regain the territories lost in 1918. He also intended to impose German rule on Poland. To this end, he had ordered three SS Death's Head regiments to follow behind the infantry advance, and to conduct what were called 'police and security' measures behind the German lines. Theodor Eicke, the commander of these three Death's Head regiments, explained what these measures were to his assembled officers at one of their bases, Sachsenhausen concentration camp, on that first day of war. In protecting Hitler's Reich, Eicke explained, the SS would have to 'incarcerate or annihilate' every enemy of Nazism, a task that would challenge even the

The German invasion of Poland, September 1939

'absolute and inflexible severity' which the Death's Head regiments had learned in the concentration camps.

These words, so full of foreboding, were soon translated into action; within a week of the German invasion of Poland, almost 24,000 officers and men of the Death's Head regiment were ready to embark on their task. On the side of one of the railway carriages taking German soldiers eastward, someone had written in white paint: 'We're off to Poland to thrash the Jews.' Not only Jews, but Poles, were to be the victims of this war behind the war. Two days after Lücke had given his instructions to the Death's Head regiments, Heinrich Himmler informed SS General Udo von Woyrsch that he was to carry out the 'radical suppression of the incipient Polish insurrection in the newly occupied parts of Upper Silesia'. The word 'radical' was a euphemism for 'ruthless'.

Whole villages were burned to the ground. At Truskolasy, on September 3, fifty-five Polish peasants were rounded up and shot, a child of two among them. At Wieruszow, twenty Jews were ordered to assemble in the market place, among them Israel Lewi, a man of sixty-four. When his daughter, Liebe Lewi, ran up to her father, a German told her to open her mouth for 'impudence'. He then fired a bullet into it. Liebe Lewi fell down dead. The twenty Jews were then executed.

In the weeks that followed, such atrocities became commonplace, widespread and on an unprecedented scale. While soldiers fought in battle, civilians were being massacred behind the lines.

On the afternoon of September 3, German bombers attacked the undefended Polish town of Sulciew, where a peace-time population of 6,500 Poles and Polish Jews were swelled by a further 3,000 refugees. Within moments, the centre of the town was ablaze. As thousands hurried for safety towards the nearby woods, German planes, flying low, opened fire with their machine guns. 'As we were running to the woods', one young boy, Ben Helfgott, recalled, 'people were falling, people were on fire. That night the sky was red from the burning town'.

On 3 September, Britain and France both declared war on Germany. 'The immediate aim of the German High Command', Hitler told his commanders, 'remains the rapid and victorious conclusion of operations against Poland.' At nine o'clock that evening, however, a German submarine, the U-30, uncommanded by Julius Lemp, torpedoed the British passenger liner Athenia, which it had mistaken for an armed ship. The Athenia, which was bound for Montreal from Liverpool, had sailed before Britain's declaration of war, with 1,203 passengers on board. Of the 112 passengers who lost their lives that night, twenty-eight were citizens of the United States. But the American President, Franklin Roosevelt, was emphatic when he broadcast to the American people on September 3: 'Let no man or woman thoughtlessly or falsely talk of America sending its armies to European fields. At this moment there is being prepared a proclamation of American neutrality.'

Confident of a swift victory, on the evening of September 3, Hitler left Berlin on board his special train, Amerska, in which he was to live for the next two weeks amid the scenes and congratulations of his first military triumph. The British Government, meanwhile, had put into operation its 'Western Air Plan

- download Field of Schemes: How the Great Stadium Swindle Turns Public Money into Private Profit \(Revised and Expanded Edition\) pdf, azw \(kindle\)
- House of Shadows pdf, azw \(kindle\), epub, doc, mobi
- download Fingerpicking Dylan \(Bob Dylan\)
- download Death of a Salesman: Certain Private Conversations in Two Acts and a Requiem
- read online Active Directory: Designing, Deploying, and Running Active Directory \(5th Edition\)

- <http://paulczajak.com/?library/The-Bogleheads--Guide-to-Investing.pdf>
- <http://ramazotti.ru/library/Black-Families-in-Therapy--Understanding-the-African-American-Experience--2th-Edition-.pdf>
- <http://www.netc-bd.com/ebooks/Isle-of-Woman--Geodyssey--Book-1-.pdf>
- <http://schroff.de/books/Gravity-s-Rainbow--Domination--and-Freedom.pdf>
- <http://academialanguagebar.com/?ebooks/Duel-for-Cannons--Dirty-Harry--Book-1-.pdf>